Specialty/Position: Chemist Ph.D. – Associate Professor in the Department of Products & Systems Design Engineering at the Polytechnic School of Western Macedonia University, Greece.

ABBREVIATED CURRICULUM VITAE: Asimina Domopoulou is a faculty member in the Department of Product and Systems Design Engineering of the Polytechnic School of Western Macedonia University with the subject matter: “Materials Technology and Product Design with an emphasis on the Synthesis of Bioinorganic Compounds and the Production of Composite Materials with the management and utilization of Industrial and Agricultural Waste.”

She obtained her degree in Chemistry from the Department of Chemistry, Faculty of Sciences of the University of Ioannina upon graduation in 1990. She was awarded a PhD in the Department of Chemistry of the Faculty of Sciences of the University of Ioannina in 1999 after successfully completing her doctoral thesis in the field of Inorganic and Analytical Chemistry. Her research interests focus on the synthesis and analysis of inorganic and bioinorganic compounds, study and analysis of heavy metals, analysis and characterization of inorganic materials/nanomaterials, synthesis and study of advanced materials, physicochemical methods and waste management technologies, study of management of agricultural and industrial by-products and residues units, advanced oxidation methods and their use in materials technology, processing of industrial and agricultural waste under the framework of the circular economy, environmental studies and environmental education in formal education structures.

Her research work includes 21 publications in prestigious international scientific journals with a referee system, 7 publications in prestigious journals (Scholar Google Indexed), 2 publications of chapters in volumes of prestigious journals, 32 conference announcements/proceedings (with a referee system) and participation in the organization of meetings and conferences. These works number more than 560 citations and h-index =13 (Scopus) and i10-index=14 (Scopus).
